Falmouth A&P Cruise Terminal

A picturesque seaside town at the entrance to Carrick Roads, Falmouth boasts stunning natural scenery and panoramic sea views. Home to the world's third-largest natural deep-water harbour, it is guarded by Pendennis and St. Mawes Castles, reflecting its rich maritime heritage. Blending tradition with modern creativity, Falmouth is a vibrant cultural and festival destination.

The port offers sheltered anchorages, all-weather berthing, and turnaround operations, with the cruise ship berth just a 10-minute walk from the town centre, beaches, and Pendennis Castle. Complimentary shuttles and friendly Cruise Ambassadors at the Tourist Information Centre provide convenience and local expertise.

Visitors can enjoy diverse excursions, including Cornwall's subtropical gardens, historic estates, enchanting castles, and the dramatic Cornish coastline. Falmouth Port is operated by A&P Falmouth, part of the APCL Group.

Top Five Facts about A&P Falmouth

1. Falmouth was founded in 1613 by the Killigrew family on a site near the existing Pendennis Castle. It developed as a port on the Carrick Roads harbour, overshadowing the earlier town of Penryn.
2. Pendennis castle was erected in 1540 on the instruction of Henry VIII to defend the Carrick Roads. Together with the castle situated in St Mawes to the east, the Falmouth estuary was well defended from potential attacks.
3. In 2016, Falmouth town was credited with the highly prestigious accolade of GB High St Best Coastal Community.
4. Falmouth is home to one of the leading art universities in the UK, but in addition to the creativity the students bring to the town, there are many creative industries located in Falmouth. With a host of shows and exhibitions, Falmouth arguably holds the title for the most creative town in the UK!
5. In the 19th century, oysters were a very popular food and were harvested from the nearby Fal River. Although appetite for oysters declined in the 20th century, the town still hosts an annual Oyster Festival in October.

Falmouth Beaches

Glyngvase Beach is the one of the most popular and largest beaches in Falmouth, a Blue Flag status beach, with its wide arc of golden sand and inviting sea. It is less than 10-minute walk from Falmouth port and Town Centre. Gylly Beach Cafe is built over the beach and offers fantastic views from its sun-drenched terrace and is open all year round. Castle Beach is the closest beach to the port, only a five-minute walk. Situated alongside Pendennis Point, its rocky sections make it an excellent spot for rock pooling, diving, and snorkelling at low tide. As you walk away from the Pendennis Point end of the beach, the rock pools give way to golden sand, where it joins Tunnel Beach. Swanpool Beach is on the west side of Falmouth, proud of its friendly, fun and welcoming environment. It is a delightful swimming cove with adjoining Swanpool Lake Nature Reserve where you can feed the ducks and the swans. There's a large carpark, crazy golf course, beach cafe, hire kayaks, or simply relax on the beach. Maenporth Beach is a beautiful sloping sandy beach. This Beach offers great views across Falmouth Bay towards Pendennis Castle and some superb coastal walking opportunities onwards towards the Helford River area. Maenporth is 2 miles from Falmouth town centre and is approximately 45-60 min walk from Falmouth town centre via the Southwest Coast Path.

Pendennis Castle

Situated on a headland overlooking the bustling town of Falmouth, Pendennis is one of Henry VIII's finest seaside castles. The picturesque fortress has defended Cornwall since Tudor times and played a vital role protecting the coast during the two World Wars. Travel back to wartime Cornwall, climb to the top of the castle keep, and enjoy panoramic views at this historic gem. This destination is popular with families and has acres of green space - the perfect place to let imaginations run wild. Make the most of your trip with a traditional cream tea in the castle café.

St Michaels Mount

A picturesque island just off the shore at Marazion. Accessible by walking the legendary cobbled causeway

at low tide or by boat at high tide. The Mount is home to a working community of local people, as well as a large medieval castle! The castle creates an imposing, dramatic spectacle when viewing the island from the land or sea. Perched up high on the craggy rocks, the castle has the façade of Gothic architecture. On closer inspection, however, it is far more welcoming and is made even more appealing by the backdrop of the ocean, particularly on a sunny day.

Wheal Coates

Perched dramatically on the rugged cliffs of the north Cornish coast, Wheal Coates is one of Cornwall's most iconic and breathtaking attractions. Originally opened in 1802 and active until 1889, this historic tin mine is best known for the striking Towanroath Shaft engine house, an image that perfectly captures the raw beauty and power of the surrounding landscape. But beyond its scenic views, Wheal Coates offers a glimpse into Cornwall's rich industrial past. Visitors can explore the remains of the mine and uncover the tough, often harsh realities of the men, women, and even children who once worked there. A visit to Wheal Coates is not just a feast for the eyes, it is a journey into the heart of Cornwall's mining heritage.

Stornoway

Locally Invested. Globally Recognised.

Welcome to Stornoway, the gateway to the Outer Hebrides!

The Outer Hebrides, with their rugged beauty and ancient heritage, offer an unforgettable experience. Wander through the islands' fascinating past, where Celtic traditions, the Gaelic language, and stories of old intertwine with the lives of the people today.

You'll be captivated by the prehistoric Callanish Standing Stones, —famously featured in Outlander and Brave—to the legendary Lewis Chessmen. These iconic 12th-century figures, discovered on the Isle of Lewis, are a highlight of any visit and can be admired in the Museum nan Eilean in Stornoway.

You also get the chance to step back in time and explore the distinctive blackhouses, traditional stone dwellings once common across the islands. Preserved in places like the Gearrannan Blackhouse Village, these buildings offer a glimpse into the lives of islanders from centuries past.

The Outer Hebrides is home to the world-famous Harris Tweed, woven by hand in the traditional style, and sold around the world. You can learn about the centuries-old craft that still thrives today, and perhaps even pick up a timeless piece of this legendary fabric as a souvenir.

These are just some of the reasons the Outer Hebrides was named as one of National Geographic's 'Best of the World' destinations for 2025, the only UK destination to make the list.

At Stornoway Port, we are proud of being a trusted destination for cruise vessels visiting the Outer Hebrides, and we're excited to extend that Hebridean welcome even further with our new Deep Water Terminal, which opened in 2024. This new berth, capable of accommodating cruise ships up to 360 meters in length, enhances our ability to offer a memorable visit for vessels of all sizes.

Top Five Facts!

1. Gaelic is the first language of the Outer Hebrides, it is one of the oldest languages in Europe and 1,000 years older than English. Abair e!
2. The world's most luxurious wool fabric – Harris Tweed – is exclusively handwoven in the Outer Hebrides and is protected by its own Act of Parliament and statutory body, the Harris Tweed Authority. Genuine Harris Tweed from the Outer Hebrides is identified by the historic Orb mark.
3. The Lewis Chessmen, displayed in Museum nan Eilean in Stornoway, are one of the best loved archaeological treasures in Britain, even making an appearance in the Harry Potter films!
4. One of the most iconic sites on the Isle of Lewis is the Callanish Standing Stones (or Calanais) a prehistoric stone circle dating back over 5,000 years. These ancient stones, arranged in a cross-like formation, are older than Stonehenge. The site is one of the most important and well-preserved Neolithic monuments in Europe. Disney's 'Brave' and the TV series 'Outlander' are based on the Callanish Stones.
5. The Outer Hebrides are renowned for their dramatic landscapes, including rugged coastlines, sandy beaches, and moorlands. The islands are a haven for wildlife, with opportunities to spot seals, otters, red deer, and a variety of birds, including puffins and golden eagles. The islands' remote location also makes them an ideal place for stargazing, as they are part of the Dark Sky initiative, offering some of the clearest night skies in the UK.

Harris Tweed Story Room

The long archipelago on the far northwest tip of Europe is home to every weaver, dyer, blender, carder, spinner, warper, finisher and inspector of Harris Tweed cloth. No part of the process takes place elsewhere. Harris Tweed is more than a unique handwoven textile. It is also the story of a real place with a rich history and culture, beautiful landscape and vibrant community located in Scotland's remote and fascinating Outer Hebrides islands.

Gearrannan Blackhouse Village

This coastal crofting village is situated in a secluded bay within the district of Carloway, on the west coast of the Isle of Lewis in the Outer Hebrides. You will be visiting a village which is alive with history. The blackhouses have seen the cycle of life through generations of crofting families. They were occupied until the early 1970s when the last few elderly residents moved to new accommodation that didn't need the annual maintenance of thatch and stonework.

Bosta Iron Age Village

In 1992 a severe storm exposed stone walls of an ancient village which had lain hidden under sand dunes at Bosta Beach, (Bostadh means farm in Old Norse). In 1996 the site was excavated to reveal a well-preserved settlement of houses that dated back to the Late Iron Age (or Pictish Age) of 400-800AD. Located in an idyllic, small valley, with streams, a beautiful beach and rich fishing waters, Bosta would have been a perfect home for these early dwellers.

Balmoral, The King's residence in Scotland

Aberdeen

Stretching from the mountains to the sea, with “one of the most architecturally distinctive cities in Europe” to “one of the world’s most outstanding coastlines”, Aberdeen and Aberdeenshire, in North-East Scotland, truly is a majestic tourism destination.

Cruise guests will quickly become captivated by this friendly, compact city-on-the-sea which has it all: miles of unspoiled sandy beaches, where dolphins and seals are regularly spotted, a profound maritime heritage to cutting-edge culture, colourful street art tours and impressive architecture, much of which is built of silvery grey granite, hewn from nearby quarries. So when the sun shines and Aberdeen sparkles, it’s easy to see why it is nicknamed the Silver City.

Beyond Aberdeen there is an embarrassment of riches. The rugged coastline stretches 165 miles north and south, and inland amongst the fairy-tale castles and world renowned distilleries there is unbeatable mountain scenery, meandering rivers, crystal clear lochs and ancient forests steeped in history and heritage providing endless scope for outdoor adventures.

The region offers glorious seascapes, ancient sites and mysterious standing stones, quaint fishing villages and sandy coves along with picturesque havens to explore such as Portsoy to the north and Stonehaven to the south.

Port of Aberdeen has a proven track record of welcoming boutique cruise vessels and now extends that expertise to welcoming larger vessels at the transformational South Harbour. The new £400 million deepwater harbour significantly increases capacity for cruise calls and will accommodate the majority of the world's cruise ship fleet.

The port is well positioned to become a major player in the UK cruise industry and has already seen Aberdeenshire recently highlighted by Good Housekeeping as best place to visit in 2023.

Top Five Facts about Aberdeen

1. Aberdeen is home to Marischal College, the world's second largest granite building.
2. Aberdeen is home to a record number of distilleries – 17 to be precise, many of which are open to the public which is a fascinating and entertaining way to learn more about the history of Aberdeen and its culture.
3. There are more than 300 castles in the Aberdeenshire area, more per acre than anywhere else in the British Isles.
4. Cairngorms National Park, which is twice the size of the Lake District and bigger than Luxembourg, is home to tranquil lochs, challenging Munros, beautiful castles and historic events – it's no surprise that it is the largest National Park in the UK.
5. The oldest building in active use in Aberdeen is St Machar's Cathedral. Located in Old Aberdeen, originally a separate burgh, there are historic cobbled streets, mature trees as well as Aberdeen's first University, which was founded in 1496. Nearby Footdee – known locally as Fittie – is a quirky fishing quarter at the water's edge, with squares of tiny cottages and brightly painted outhouses.

Falmouth Harbour

Falmouth Harbour

The UK's Atlantic Gateway

Falmouth is the UK's first and last major Port, conveniently located at the entrance to the Western Approaches. As the third deepest natural harbour in the world, Falmouth offers services to vessels of all sizes all taking place within an unrivalled natural environment.

Flanked by Henry VIII's two castles (Pendennis and St Mawes), the Harbour has been providing a comforting welcome to seafarers since well before the town's creation in the early 1600s.

Built around the packet ship trade, Falmouth was the first landfall for sailing ships returning to Britain from distant shores. Reminders of this golden age can still be seen throughout the town and forms a central part of its unique character.

Framed by Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONBs) along the Helford and Fal Rivers and Roseland Peninsula and located on the outstanding Southwest Coast Path – the area is a magnet for walkers, and a world leading location for water sports, sailing and other active pursuits.

The bustling town of Falmouth boasts world class beaches, a diverse high street and a thriving café / restaurant culture. Combined with the relaxed atmosphere that Cornwall is famous for, it's no wonder that Falmouth is renowned as the one of the UK's premier holiday destinations and a must-see for many.

The town offers easy access to the wide selection of attractions on offer in Cornwall: the Eden Project, St Michaels Mount, the sub-tropical gardens of Trebah, Lands' End, the Lost Gardens of Heligan and many more.

Falmouth Harbour is well placed strategically to support a wide variety of cruises – whether this is shorter round Britain and Ireland cruises or as part of a much longer trans-Atlantic cruise. It is just a short steam to or from the Isles of Scilly, another must see Cornish destination.

The commercial Port, operated by A&P Falmouth, can accommodate ships alongside up to 240m, or the largest cruise ships in the world can comfortably anchor in the Harbour approaches or the sheltered waters of Falmouth Bay. A&P operate a dedicated passenger landing facility where vessels can expect to be welcomed by the Falmouth Cruise Ambassadors. Ships berth only a 10-minute walk away from the town, with access for coach trip services directly next to the berth.

The Port offers a full range of marine services, including bunkering, all of which can be organised via our highly experienced local Port Agents. This combined with the areas unique offer to tourism, makes Falmouth Harbour a key destination for many cruise lines and passengers alike.

Top Five Facts about Falmouth Harbour

1. Falmouth Harbour and the Carrick Roads form the third deepest natural harbour in the world and the deepest in Western Europe
2. Falmouth was the start and finishing point for both Robin Knox-Johnston and Ellen McArthur's voyages around the world (Knox-Johnston in 1969 and McArthur in 2007) – sailing non-stop single handedly
3. Operation Chariot, a famous Commando raid on the heavily defended docks of St Nazaire in France during World War Two, which helped to shape the war at sea was launched from Falmouth
4. Falmouth was made the Royal Mail Packet Station in 1688. In 1805 the news of Britain's victory and Admiral Nelson's death at Trafalgar was landed here and taken to London by stagecoach
5. Falmouth is home to one of only 8 Blue Flag beaches in Cornwall

Surfing Experience at Newquay

Newquay is the self-proclaimed capital of the Cornish surf scene and one of the best surf towns in the whole of the UK. It's a veteran of major competitions, has fantastic exposure to the west Atlantic swell channels, good vibes and oodles of surf schools and surf camps. As one of the nation's favourite seaside towns, Newquay exudes the laidback atmosphere you would expect from a town perched on Cornwall's Atlantic cliffs and bordered by seven miles of glorious golden sandy beaches - toes in the sand, ice-cream in hand! There's a different beach for every day of the week and glorious open spaces looking out to sea.

Belfast

A port for everyone

Belfast Harbour

Belfast is a city with a unique character and history that sets it apart from other cruise destinations. Since the first cruise ship arrival in 1996, Belfast has seen unprecedented growth in both cruise calls and visitor numbers. We combine our heritage with a legendary welcome and a sense of humour, which ensures cruise visitors enjoy their stay with us.

An award-winning cruise destination, Belfast is now widely regarded as one of the UK and Ireland's most vibrant and exciting city destinations, full of unique visitor attractions and friendly faces. There is so much for visitors to explore in the incredible city whose innovation, passion and pride gave birth to RMS Titanic and many other great ships. From castles towering high above the lough to tranquil canal towpaths by beautiful parks, Belfast has a myriad of wonderful experiences to enthrall visitors.

From just two cruise calls in 1996 to 148 calls in 2019 with 285,000 cruise visitors, Belfast is now the third most popular destination in the UK and Ireland for one-day cruise ship calls after Dublin and Orkney. It's against this backdrop that Belfast Harbour opened the island's first dedicated cruise terminal in May 2019

Belfast Harbour has invested more than £500,000 to upgrade the quayside, which now includes a Visitor

Information Centre managed by our partners, Visit Belfast. Staffed by Visit Belfast's travel advisors the new terminal utilises the latest digital and audio-visual technology to showcase Belfast and Northern Ireland's visitor attractions.

The newly developed site also includes ample space to service the shore side activities associated with cruise ships – coaches, shuttle buses and taxis – and a berth which has been dredged to accommodate the next generation of larger cruise ships. The terminal allows passengers to quickly connect to Belfast city centre or join one of the many organised excursions to visitor attractions such as the Giant's Causeway, Hillsborough Castle, Mount Stewart and Titanic Belfast.

Top Five Facts about Belfast

1. Belfast Harbour is made up of Belfast Port and the 2,000 acre Harbour Estate which is home to more than 760 businesses with 27,000 people who come to either work or study every day, we welcome 5 million visitors annually.
2. Included in our strategic vision to 2035 is our ambition to become the world's best regional port.
3. In 1998 the Good Friday agreement was signed which marked the end of the Troubles. Since then, Belfast has completely changed. It went from being a hurt city to becoming an awesome technology hub. Nowadays Belfast is a vibrant and welcoming city.
4. HBO's Game of Throne studios are in Belfast and a lot of the filming locations for the hit TV show are dotted around Northern Ireland, including the North Wall & the Dark Hedges.
5. The Titanic was built in Belfast – "She was fine when she left here"

Experience Belfast

Titanic Belfast

The world's largest Titanic visitor experience and a must-see on any visit to Belfast and Northern Ireland. Titanic Belfast, named the World's Leading Tourist Attraction at the prestigious World Travel Awards in 2016, is located beside the Titanic Slipways, the Harland and Wolff Drawing Offices and Hamilton Graving Dock, the very place where Titanic was designed, built and launched in 1912. It tells the story of the Titanic, from her conception in Belfast in the early 1900s, through her construction and launch, to its maiden voyage and subsequent place in history. The self-guided Titanic Experience extends over nine interpretive and interactive galleries, which explore the sights, sounds, smells and stories of RMS Titanic, as well as the city and people who made her.

The Giant's Causeway

A UNESCO World Heritage site, the Giant's Causeway is a magnificent, mysterious geological formation on the North East coast of County Antrim. It's steeped in myths and legend. The setting is a spectacular, dynamic coastal landscape of Atlantic waves, rugged cliffs, fascinating geographical antiquity, secluded bays and magnificent views. It forms a jagged headland of neatly packed columns which point towards Scotland. Visitors can walk or take a small bus along the basalt columns which are at the edge of the sea, just over 1km from the entrance to the site.

Hillsborough Castle & Gardens

The official Northern Ireland residence of HM The Queen. In the 1940s, the then Princess Elizabeth enjoyed family holidays here with her sister Princess Margaret, and she continues to visit and attend official engagements here today. From grand family home to charming royal residence, Hillsborough Castle has welcomed the world and witnessed pivotal chapters in politics. This splendid late Georgian house, surrounded by 100 acres of glorious gardens, was built in the 1770s by Wills Hill, later 1st Marquess of Downshire. The Castle is set in 100 acres of breath-taking gardens and offers significant contrasts of woodland, waterways, gardens with trimmed lawns and meadows as well as specimen trees and rare plants.

SS Nomadic

SS Nomadic - RMS Titanic's tender ship and the last remaining White Star Line vessel has been restored to her original glory. Walk the decks, explore the ship, and take a journey through over 100 years of authentic maritime and social history. SS Nomadic is most famous for the part she played in the Titanic story when she ferried passengers to Titanic from Cherbourg, but this was only the beginning of her extraordinary 100-year journey. Restored to her original 1911 glory and back home in Belfast, a visit to SS Nomadic and Hamilton Dock combines the authentic heritage and atmosphere of this historic ship.

Penzance

Nestled in a corner of glorious Mount's Bay, our town has long been a hidden gem for well-informed travellers. Visit Penzance and you'll encounter all the salt-flecked history you'll expect from its famous name – the piratey cobbled alleyways, the bobbing boats and dockside taverns – along with a vibrant local scene.

At last you'll feel like you've discovered authentic Cornwall.

Plot a course along the mid-eighteenth century Chapel Street, exploring independent antiques and art shops as you go. Admire the pleasingly flamboyant Grade-I listed Egyptian House, a rare example of Egyptian Revival architecture from the 1830s which sticks out like an ornate sore thumb amid the brickwork.

The iconic art deco Jubilee Lido is the largest seawater pool in the UK, and was opened in 1935, the year of King George V's Silver Jubilee. Community-run and community-owned since 2017, it boasts a vast but chilly main pool, a learners' pool, and a thermally heated smaller pool. Perhaps you'll have time for a dip?

Penzance promenade stretches the seafront between The Jubilee Pool and Newlyn and is an idyllic place to stroll, roller skate, jog or just sit and people watch. Dating back to the 1800's the Promenade gives breath taking views of Mounts Bay and Newlyn. There are occasions when it rains in Cornwall and Irish painter Norman Garstin captured such a day in his painting "The Rain it Raineth Every Day" which was to become an iconic painting of Penzance in 1889 – capturing the grandeur, splendour and light of the Victorian Promenade, come rain or shine. That very same painting now resides in Penlee Gallery at Penlee House a few hundred metres from its Promenade inspiration. Penlee Gallery houses an impressive art collection with works by members of the famous Newlyn School.

Continuing along the promenade towards Newlyn we reach the Newlyn Art Gallery. For more than 125 years, the gallery has been bringing the best in contemporary art to audiences in the South West. In 2007 the gallery was redeveloped and they opened a second venue, The Exchange, in Penzance.

Passengers can join a shore excursion to many of the nearby attractions including St Michaels Mount, the Minack Theatre, Lands End and St Ives. Penzance has created fortunes, weathered storms and inspired groundbreaking ideas and looks forward to welcoming you.

Dartmouth

A natural harbour, steeped in maritime heritage, Dartmouth is the perfect location for an exceptional port call. For over 900 years, sailors have left the town's shores and it was from the medieval quay of Bayards Cove that the Pilgrim Fathers set sail on their journey to the New World.

Whether you're anchored at sea, looking out across the harbour entrance, or are lucky enough to sail up the River Dart into the heart of the community, we're sure the view of Dartmouth will set a spectacular scene for what's to come. To start the voyage to Dartmouth, please complete our online enquiry form for cruise ships.

A short stroll from the disembarkation point on the Town Jetty, guests will find the centre of this attractive, bustling riverside town. Excursion transportation can pick up within two or three minutes' walk of the tender point. There is also direct access from the same jetty to the river boats that ply the river, offering a variety of tours. Britannia Royal Naval College, Mayflower trails and Agatha Christie's riverside home, Greenway feature on our shore excursion portfolio.

But a trip to Dartmouth isn't just about the town and its fascinating history. The surrounding countryside is part of an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty full of rugged coastlines, beaches and wooded valleys, all presenting exciting outdoor tour possibilities.

Ships' guests are met by the local Visitor Centre team (French and German speakers can be arranged), as well as our award winning Town Crier, in order to offer the warmest welcome.

Dartmouth has become a popular port of call to a mix of different ships and nationalities, from international cruise companies, to boutique and explorer brands – many return year after year. The harbour's geographical position lends itself to overnight sailing from other cruise ports and is easily combined with Around Britain & Ireland itineraries or cross – channel to Northern France.

Dart Harbour & Navigation Authority is a Trust Port and a Local Lighthouse Authority.

Top Five Facts About Dartmouth

1. Home to the Britannia Royal Naval College for naval officer training, this is where the Queen and Prince Philip first met in 1939.
2. Greenway House & Gardens – home of Agatha Christie, overlooks the river Dart and is open to the public. Christie moved here in 1938 and based several plots around the setting.
3. The Onedin Line TV series made Dartmouth its filming base between 1971 and 1980. The town and Start Bay were used, as was the river which became 'the Amazon' for episodes, complete with plastic alligators.
4. In 1147, the second crusade saw 150 ships and 10,000 crusaders depart Dartmouth for the Holy Land.
5. Dartmouth had a railway terminal (now a café) without ever having a railway line. Trains actually arrived in Kingswear and passengers were ferried across the river and dropped off at the Dartmouth railway terminal.

Berwick-upon-Tweed

Berwick-upon-Tweed

Welcome to Berwick-upon-Tweed, a beautiful town in the “Secret Kingdom” of North Northumberland and only two miles from the border with Scotland.

A town unique in its mix of English and Scottish culture and layered with a turbulent history of battles and wars between the two nations. Now, however, a wonderful town and area filled with things to do and see, both old and new.

Our port sits almost in the town centre and the walk from our brand new landing pontoon to the centre of town is less than five minutes. Take in the Elizabethan walls and the galleries and boutiques of the lower part of town. Or take an excursion to one of many wonderful places in the area, such as Alnwick Castle with its Harry Potter themed events, or the Farne Islands with seal and puffin colonies. See Lindisfarne Priory, the cradle of Christianity in the UK. Visit Alnwick Garden, twelve acres of magnificent gardens including the world’s largest Treehouse restaurant and a “Poison Garden”.

Visit Floors Castle, the largest inhabited castle in Scotland which also boasts nature trails through its wonderful gardens, or Manderston House, an Edwardian stately home used in many television series, with its famous silver staircase and magnificent lake and gardens. Visit Chain Bridge Honey Farm and watch the busy hives close up, or visit the Union Chain Bridge itself only 100 metres away, the oldest suspension bridge in the world still carrying traffic.

All of this and much more is within half an hour’s travel of the landing pontoon at the Port of Berwick.

Top Five Facts about Berwick-upon-Tweed

- Berwick is THE Border Town as it has changed hands between England and Scotland thirteen times.

Alnwick Castle

The ‘Windsor of the North,’ is the second largest inhabited castle in the country and has been home to the Duke of Northumberland’s family, the Percys, for over 700 years. Combining magnificent medieval architecture with sumptuous Italianate State Rooms, Alnwick Castle is one of the UK’s most significant heritage destinations and best days out in Northumberland. The Castle’s rich history is brimming with drama, intrigue and extraordinary people; from a gunpowder plotter and visionary collectors, to decadent hosts and medieval England’s most celebrated knight: Harry Hotspur. In recent years it has also taken starring roles in a number of film and television productions, featuring as the magnificent Brancaster Castle in Downton Abbey and previously appearing as Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in the Harry Potter films. There are various Harry Potter related events throughout the year.

Holy Island of Lindisfarne

Lying just a few miles off the coast, Holy Island is cut off twice-daily by fast-moving tides. Both an island and a picturesque village, Holy Island carries a wealth of history within its tidal walls. Experience the serenity of 12th century Lindisfarne Priory, the epicentre of Christianity in Anglo Saxon times and once the home of St Oswald. This peaceful setting was the birthplace of the Lindisfarne Gospels, one of the world's most precious books. Ransacked by marauding Vikings in the 8th century, the evocative ruins of Lindisfarne Priory remain. Holy Island remains a place of pilgrimage today. Rising from the sheer rock face at the tip of the island is Lindisfarne Castle. Built in 1550 as a fort to defend the harbour against attack from Scots and Norsemen. In 1901 Edward Hudson bought Lindisfarne Castle and commissioned celebrated architect Edward Lutyens to give the castle a luxurious makeover.

Bamburgh Castle

No visit to Northumberland is complete without setting foot inside one of the British Isles' best-loved fortresses which has stood guard above the spectacular coastline for over 1,400 years. One of the largest inhabited castles in the country, the site has been continuously occupied for thousands of years, Bamburgh enjoys more than its fair share of ghost stories, legends and myths. It is also believed to be the site of Sir Lancelot's fictitious castle, Joyous Garde. See the scenes of films such as Transformers The Last Knight and best selling Bernard Cornwell's Last Kingdom series brought to life. Farne Islands

Scattered a couple of miles off the coast near Seahouses, this cluster of islands was declared by broadcaster Sir David Attenborough as his favourite place in the UK to see nature at its best. Take a boat ride to the islands from Seahouses. Look out for the island's colony of grey or Atlantic seals hauled up on the rocks or bobbing inquisitively in the sea. The islands have the largest breeding colony in England with some 1,000 pups born here each autumn. During summertime around 150,000 breeding pairs of seabirds cram onto the islands. Around 23 different varieties of birds can be spotted here, including razorbills, guillemots, eider ducks and colourful puffins - just some of the varieties that flock here.

Floors Castle

Scotland's largest inhabited castle is one of the leading visitor attractions in the Scottish Borders. Visit and explore the collection of fine art, porcelain, newly restored tapestries, grand rooms and superb views over the River Tweed and the Cheviot Hills to the south. Built by leading architect William Adam between 1721-1726 for the 1st Duke of Roxburghe, it has undergone periodic changes to create the dramatic building there today, notably during the Victorian period through the work of Scottish architect William Playfair. Enjoy a wander through atmospheric woodland or a trail by the riverside or a stroll around the stunning Victorian walled garden.

Carisbrooke Castle

The quintessential romantic castle, Carisbrooke has been an Elizabethan artillery fortress, a king's prison and a royal summer residence. Of Saxon origin, the castle was built as one of the fortified camps intended to defend England against the Vikings. The Normans, in turn, came and established their own stronghold. For more than 800 years, the living heart of the castle was enclosed within the Norman curtain walls. Today, the high castle walls provide an excellent viewpoint over the Isle of Wight, and a home to a herd of donkeys that for generations have helped raised water from a deep well using a well-house wheel. Set off on a leisurely guided bike ride through Cowes town. You will go on the Chain Ferry, an unusual floating bridge, and make your way over the River Medina to East Cowes. Admire the views back towards Cowes from the seafront, and spot landmarks such as the world famous Royal Yacht Squadron. St Mildred's Church in Whippingham village, rich in royal history and heritage, offers wonderful architecture and excellent views. The Church was designed by Prince Albert and frequented by Queen Victoria. Continue to Newport via picturesque country lanes and cycle paths, admiring the stunning rural views of the Medina Valley before returning to the quaint streets of Cowes. Panoramic Island Drive

Travel by classic vintage vehicle and experience a step back in time through the scenic highspots. Throughout your journey your local driver will share an insights into island life and history as you stop at points of interest, many of them well-kept secrets off the tourist map. Godshill is the quintessential English Village, and boasts some of the oldest architecture on the Isle of Wight. With its delightful medieval church, fabulous Model Village, charming thatched-roofed cottages and a winding main-street lined with traditional tearooms, Godshill is as picturesque as it is popular. Alternatively, you may pass through quaint villages and rolling hillsides as you head to Calbourne Watermill, an ancient site and operating mill since 1066. Image credit: Visit Isle of Wight

Farringford House

The historic home of Alfred Lord Tennyson, the most famous poet of the Victorian era. One of the fashionable Victorians who took up residency on the Isle of Wight, Tennyson was Poet Laureate to Queen Victoria. The important historic estate has been meticulously restored, bringing the dramatic Gothic house back to the late 19th-century style that reflected Tennyson's tastes, interests and lifestyle. The grounds have also been returned to their authentic Tennyson-era condition, including an enchanting walled garden with a planting scheme based on contemporary descriptions and artistic depictions by the poet's friends. Island Gastronomy with Robert Thompson

Robert Thompson is the UK's youngest Michelin-starred chef. Robert's award-winning restaurant, thompson's, in the Island's capital of Newport serves contemporary British cuisine in an open kitchen concept. Drawing on Robert's fresh and experienced approach, you will see how different dishes are put together using local produce. Suitable for everyone from beginners to budding master chefs, these relaxed demonstrations will guide you through different techniques that Robert uses. Demonstrations start with a coffee and catch up in the bar where Robert will talk you through what he is cooking. After the demo you'll enjoy refreshments and a three course set lunch.
