

Harland & Wolff Shipyard building dock. Photography by davidcordner.com

Harland & Wolff

Wolff has a rich history dating back to 1861. Today, we are a multisite fabrication company operating in the maritime and offshore industry throughout six services, five markets and across four distinct sites. In Belfast, Northern Ireland, we operate two of the largest drydocks in Europe capable of handling some of the largest cruise ships.

With our Belfast shipyard designed to expertly handle the world's largest cruise ships within its drydock, the city is also home to the leading interior outfitting contractors for major cruise ship conversions. With direct access to the Irish Sea as well as two international airports, Harland & Wolff (Belfast) offers immediate access for a multitude of cruise and ferry clients.

Alongside Harland & Wolff (Belfast), the agile outfitting quays at Harland & Wolff (Appledore) can support with the build and repair of smaller components. Set at the mouth of the River Torridge and with direct access to the Bristol Channel, the team can provide a swift turnaround before returning to voyage.

We offer greater flexibility and capacity, whilst boasting a rapid turnaround – without compromise. Our fully engaged and high performing teams have a passion for quality – always ensuring a five-star finish.